

Maintaining a consistent color pattern for a character helps the viewer identify the character. These icons have been distilled from the colors used for several well known cartoon characters. Can you identify the character to match the icon?